Fear Always a Handicap.

Fear never did any good to anybody. Even when cause for fear is real, a man must not give up to it. If you can just bolster yourself up to the point of nerve that will enable you to master your fears, you will add 50 per cent. to your results and a like percentage to the influence for good you can bring to your house.

BIDS ON PAVEMENT OPEN NEXT TUESDAY

Estimates To Be Submitted On Specifications For Asphalt Macadam.

Bids for laying two blocks of brick pavement, three blocks of asphalt macadam pavement, and two blocks of water bound macadam will be opened by the Board of Public Works next Tuesday afternoon. The brick pavement is to be laid on North Division Street from North First Street to East Milwaukee Street and from the latter street to Court Street; the asphalt macadam from St. Lawrence Avenue to Oakland Avenue; and the water-bound macadam on Garfield Avenue from Clark to Carrington Street, and on Vista Avenue, north from Garfield Avenue to a point 33 feet east of Logan Street.

Asphalt of a higher test has been called for in asphalt macadam previously put down is called for in specifications for the new work. An additional seal coat will also be required. The specifications demand a foundation of crushed stone seven inches deep in the center and five inches deep at the side after rolling and a wearing surface of granite two inches in thickness. The asphalt binder must be heated to a temperature of from 300 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit and applied not less than three quarters of a gallon to a square yard. When the asphalt is still hot, dry, clean stone chips, from 3/4 to 1/2 an inch in size shall be tumbled on the surface and rolled into the binder in sufficient quantity to fill all irregularities and leave a slight excess on the surface.

After rolling, the wearing surface shall be swept free from all loose chips and a seal coat of hot asphaltic cement evenly applied to the surface in sufficient quantity to completely coat it when carefully spread with shovels or brooms, using not less than one-half gallon per square yard. Stone chips shall be spread on the surface in just sufficient quantity to take up all excess binder and form a smooth well-bound surface when rolled.

The macadam to be laid on Garfield and Vista Avenues will be lighter than is standard, the requirements being five inches depth in the center and three inches at the sides after rolling is completed. The brick pavement on Division Street will be laid on a sand foundation instead of the customary macadam foundation.

Contractors must start work on the asphalt macadam paving not later than Sept. 15 and have it completed by October 25. The other paving work must be started not later than September 25 and be finished by November 25. Curb and gutter has been laid on most of the portions of streets to be paved.

VOTE TO CONTINUE SERIES OF DINNERS

Twenty-eight Members of Good Fellowship Club Enjoy Outing at Lake Ripley.

Such a good time was enjoyed by the members of the Good Fellowship club at their annual outing at Lake Ripley yesterday that it was voted not only to continue to hold the annual outing each summer but also to resume if possible the monthly dinners during the winter months. The club is a continuation of the old commercial club. Twenty-eight members made the trip of thirty-five miles to the lake in seven or eight autos and enjoyed the day at Cedar Lodge. They returned to Janesville at nine o'clock last night.

While at the lake the men inspected the shortest railroad in the United States which connects Cambridge and London. It is four miles long and boasts of two engines and one passenger car. Its president is also telegraph operator, conductor, engineer and general manager. The cost of transportation is but one and a half cents per mile and the management made money at that, according to the operator-manager.

ODD FELLOWS MEET HERE IN NOVEMBER

Janesville Chosen as Next Convention City by Lodges of District No. 36.—Have Profitable Session.

Janesville was unanimously chosen as the place in which the Odd Fellows lodges in district No. 36 will hold their next convention, some time in the coming November, at the district convention which was convened in Whitewater yesterday. From fifty to sixty members were present, Janesville being represented by about eighteen. Mayor Fathers was among those who attended. Past Grand Master C. W. Crumb of Milton took part in the sessions which were held in both the afternoon and evening. The convention to be held at Janesville in November will be under the auspices of Odd Fellows Lodge Number 20. District No. 36 comprises all lodges in Rock county and Whitewater.

OBITUARY

Samuel Tall.

Albion Prairie, Aug. 28.—Samuel Tall was born in Wichester, Cambridge-shire, England in the year 1839. His mother died when he was a child. He came with his father to this country when he was twelve years old, his father dying shortly after. He came to Albion Prairie in the year 1855 and worked for farmers in this neighborhood. He was married to Miss Mary Tall, February 28, 1865, and in the year 1887 they settled on the farm which has since been their home. To this union were born six children, one died in infancy.

Mr. Tall passed away at his home August 26 at 7:20 p. m. He leaves to mourn his departure his widow and five children as follows: Charles of Edgerton, Mrs. Marion Slings of Albion, Frank of Milton, Mrs. John Craig and Arlo Tall of Albion. He has two sisters who survive him, Ann who resides in England and Mrs. Sarah Peters of Janesville.

Mr. Tall was a good and highly respected. He had been failing in health for some months and knew that he could not live very long. He did not dread the approach of death, for he was reconciled with his Heavenly Father, his resignation being very noticeable to the family and to the neighbors. The end came peacefully. May we meet him on the morn of resurrection. Services were held from the home Sunday at 1:30 and at 2:00 from the church. The Rev. J. D. Blenkinsop officiated, assisted by the Rev. T. W. North. A large congregation of friends and neighbors were present in respect for the departed, and in sympathy for the bereaved.

Sugar.

Almost all the sugar in the world comes from two sources—the sugar cane and the sugar beet. There is also maple sugar, sugar made from the sap of date palms and from dried fruits. But the sugar we use in huge quantities, the loaf sugar, the granulated and the powdered, comes from the cane or the beet. Fifty years ago sugar was more or less of a luxury. Today it is a necessity.

Emerson's Advice.

There should be on every tower watchers set to observe and report of every new ray of light, in what quarter of heaven it should appear, and their report should be eagerly and reverently received.—Emerson.

Greater Conqueror.

Though a man conquer a thousand thousand men in battle, a greater conqueror still is he who conquers himself.—Buddha.

GEORGIA WOMAN A WINNING LOBBYIST

Mrs. George Brown.

Thanks to the indomitable zeal and perseverance of Mrs. George Brown of Atlanta, a law giving to mothers of Georgia an equal standing in court with fathers in the awarding of the custody of minor children is now on the statute books of that state. Mrs. Brown haunted the capitol while the bill was pending, and personally saw almost every member of the house and senate. It is believed that had she not "lobbied" for the bill it would have been lost.

GREAT MAN TAKES BATH IN THE LAKE

Harold McCormick, John D. Rockefeller's son-in-law, goes in bathing on the north shore in Chicago. Mr. McCormick has been making daily trips in his new flying boat from Lake Forest to his office downtown. He has done much in the way of financing aviation contests in Chicago.

ONE MORE VETERAN GOES TO THE MINORS

Arthur Devlin.

Another veteran stepped out of first company the other day when President Gaffney of the Boston National league team disposed of his third baseman, Arthur Devlin, to the Rochester club of the International league.

Devlin was one of the old New York National league stars whose work helped the Giants win several championships and one world's pennant—that of 1905. Since he began playing with Boston in the spring of 1912 his fielding has been up to his former average, but in batting and base running he fell off to such an extent that this season he has been used only as a substitute.

Amusemenst.

"THE SPENDTHRIFT."

Plays taken from books are always interesting, not only to people who have read the books, but to others who have heard of them. To the readers there is a great satisfaction in having visualized for them the characters of whom they have made a mental picture, and as it happens that books of great interest are put on the stage, the person who has not read them has the satisfaction of seeing the story and characterization at first hand. However, with reference to "The Spendthrift" the reverse condition obtains inasmuch that the popularity of the play itself—dramatized by Porter Emerson Brown—furnished the inspiration for Edward Marshall who used the material of the play from which he wrote the book.

Many plays owe their popularity to the books from which they were written but the book of "The Spendthrift" owes its existence and large circulation to the popularity of the play. For two seasons "The Spendthrift" was presented in New York and Boston, and then nearly duplicated its eastern success in Chicago. At the same time the play enjoyed tremendous success in England with an English cast. Thais Gagnon and Edmund Breese created the leading roles in this country and found it one of the best vehicles of their distinguished career.

Marion Sherwood, who last year headed the cast in "The Thief" company and Lee H. Barclay, an English actor of European reputation, will assume the Magrane-Breese roles under the management of C. S. Primrose. "The Spendthrift" will be the attraction at Myers Theatre on Monday, Sept. 1, matinee and evening.

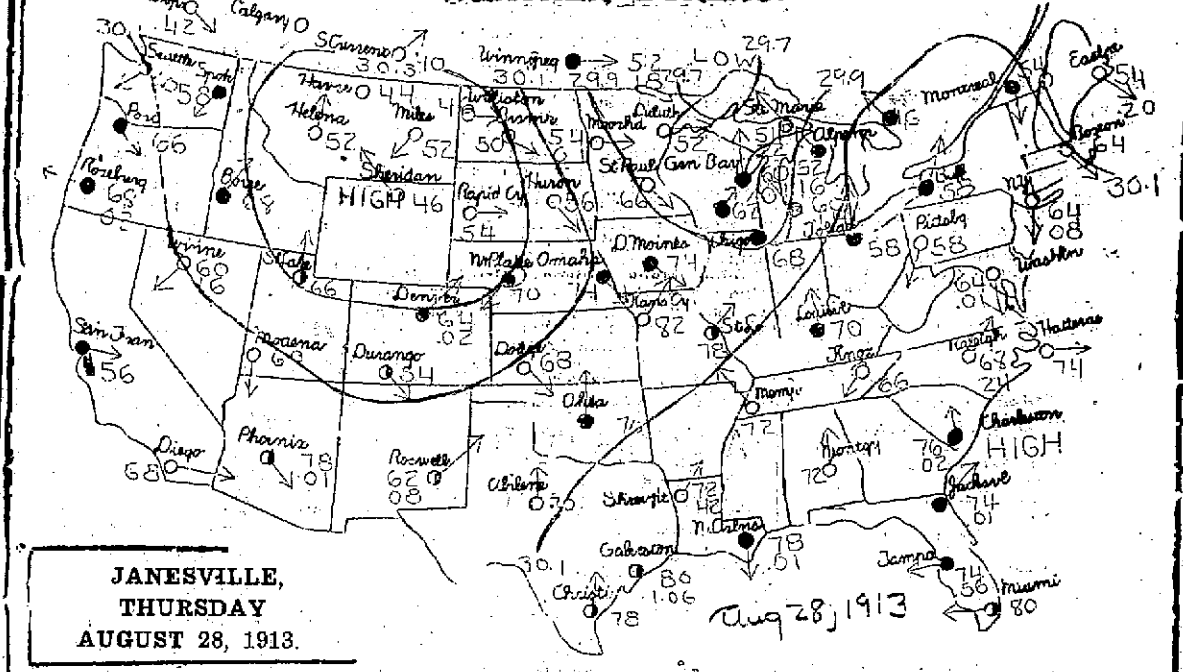

Fever Statistics.

People are most liable to fever between the ages of fifteen and twenty; 200 out of every 1,000 cases occur at that age. There are only 10 per 1,000 under five and 2 per 1,000 over fifty-five.

Order of the Bath.

The Order of the Bath is an English order of knighthood, traced to the reign of Henry IV, and consisting of three classes. Initiation is preceded by a bath, whence the name, in token of the purity required of the members by the laws of chivalry.

SPORT Snap-Shots

By MORRIS MILLER

A new fame-seeker among welterweights has just made his appearance on the horizon. His stage name is Mexican Kid Carter, but at his home in San Bernardino, Cal., they call him Joseph Madrid. At Oxnard, Cal., where he was working as a cement mixer, he was drawn into the fighting game. As a training camp manager he was substituted for a boxer named Tony Rose, who was matched against Battling Schultz. Carter knocked out his opponent in a round. That was in October last. Since then he has engaged in fifteen fights and has decisively won eleven of them. Four defeats are charged to him, but as Carter never trained for any of his bouts until the last few weeks, the setbacks might be put down as due to lack of condition and absence of ring generalship. Phil Cross is sought as an opponent for Carter and the bout may be staged as preliminary to the next big battle Leach Cross arranges for.

"They formerly pulled off lots of tricks in the American league that are tabooed now," reminisced Harry Davis, former manager of the Cleveland Naps the other day. "They did not stop with signal tipping devices, but they worked in a rabbit ball now and then, cut down or raised the line toward third base, let the base run all night on the base paths or on the grass near the plate. Clark Griffiths turned the trick on us one day when he was managing the White Sox. Thought he would make it difficult for our pitcher to back to field bunts, but our pitcher and I got every one, while Griffith himself slipped in the water and soaked his uniform."

WOMEN OVERCOME FIERCE CURRENTS OF 'FRISCO BAY; SWIM THE GOLDEN GATE

Miss Dollie Meyer.

Defying the dangerous currents of ebb tide, Miss Dollie Meyer and Mrs. Myrtle Wright, two of the best long distance swimmers on the Pacific coast, recently swam the Golden Gate. It was the first time in history that woman had successfully navigated the treacherous currents with the tide at ebb. Mrs. Wright completed the strenuous ordeal in one hour and thirty seconds, while Miss Meyer took one hour and twenty-five minutes to accomplish the task.

And Minister Had to Smile.

In order to neutralize the seriousness of marriage a bridegroom left a nice, thickly wadded packet for the minister who officiated. "This," said the happy bridegroom, "is your fee, Doctor." The minister thanked him heartily and some time later on opening the "fee" found it to be a bundle of wrapping paper skillfully folded and bearing this message: "Well, old boy, I'm married now, so don't wish me any hard luck, even if you are set back a little. Yours in a rush."

Practical Joke Caused Death.

A wealthy resident of Newburgh, N. Y., died as the result of a pleasantries perpetrated by a frolicsome friend. This friend, holding a lighted cigar near the victim's face, suddenly asked him to turn around, and as this was done the cigar lightly touched the victim's cheek. Both gentlemen enjoyed hugely the merry jest. In a few months, however, a cancerous growth appeared on the spot where the flesh had been burned and, growing rapidly, caused the man's death.

REMINGTON UMC

AUTOLOADING SHOTGUNS

ANY way you look at it, the Autoloader is the highest development in modern shotgun design. It puts five loads at your disposal by merely pressing the trigger. It puts the recoil to useful work—to eject the empty and slip in the fresh shell. It saves the gunner's shoulder—rids his sport of annoyances—increases his shooting average.

Your danger is that in your enthusiasm over the autoloading principle, you may forget to insist on getting the finest embodiment of that principle—the Remington-UMC Autoloading Shotgun.

The peculiar advantages of the Remington-UMC are too many to detail here. What you want to do is to get one of the Remington-UMC dealers in this section to demonstrate them to you on the gun itself.

THE KETTLE BOILS.

President Wilson appeared before the joint session of Congress Wednesday and for the second time in the history of this nation, the president of the United States, addressed the law makers on a question of foreign policies. His talk was admirable in tone and matter, and it leaves no doubt in the minds of Congress or the Mexican republic, just what the attitude of the United States will be as regards the present state of affairs south of the Rio Grande.

The Mexicans are to be left to fight out their own quarrel in their own way. There is however one provision which is the nub of the whole message.

We should let every one who assumes to exercise authority in any part of Mexico know in the most unequivocal way that we shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who can not get away, and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning. That can be and will be made plain before a possibility of a misunderstanding.

Mexico resents the idea of interference in their affairs and President Wilson accepted the answer in its full meaning and will issue orders relative to permitting arms and munitions of war from being shipped into the troubled country. They take the same stand as did the United States when they resented the interference of European powers in the strife of the Sixties. President Wilson understands this and while foreign interests must suffer, his strong state paper will go a long way towards bringing about a peaceful solution of the question.

Neither side can expect aid or favors from this side of the border until they formally ask for the good offices of this government in bringing about a peaceful solution of the problems. Meanwhile the Americans in Mexico are urged to leave the country at once, for safety and let the revolutionary kettle boil to suit itself.

THE NEW LAWS.

The Kewaunee Enterprise prints the following editorial relative to the ignorance of the law passed by the last legislature.

"During the past week I asked more than forty business men who interests I knew to be affected by recent state legislation what they knew about it. Not one of them knew anything clearly. About half a dozen knew very vaguely that there had been something doing in regard to the workmen's compensation act; the minimum wage law and hours of labor for women and minors. One was much concerned because he had learned the industrial commission now had authority to enter his factory and enforce certain structural changes as well as working conditions. As a matter of fact, most of the people whose interests are materially affected by these new measures are all up the air—not because of any vagueness in the laws but because they seem too apathetic to keep posted.

The Madison Democrat comments upon in the following manner and any person who appeared before any committee of the legislature this past winter can heartily endorse the Democrat's views on the question.

"Yes, and if these men had come to the legislature for the purpose of ascertaining what was going on, perhaps seeking the present state of affairs they would have found themselves in the position of lobbyists so-called.

hence undesirable citizens. They saved themselves humiliation and exasperation by remaining at home and meekly taking the dose prepared for them. In these reform days it really is a most comfortable policy for our citizens to keep away from the capitol and let their agents, the legislators, do their work. If they had come they would not have been permitted even to step upon the senate floor to see their own representatives, and if perchance they overtook them in the capitol grounds and tried to talk shop they ran the risk of contravening the law which prohibits undue influence being exercised upon legislators. It really is not surprising that citizens should not know clearly what the legislature was doing or what finally has been crystallized into law. It is a foregone conclusion that as experience gives them familiarity with the new statutes they are to undergo many painful surprises.

THE CIVIC CLUB.

The women of the city are invited to attend the mass meeting to be held Friday afternoon at the city hall for the purpose of organizing a civic improvement club. It is a worthy object and one which every woman in the city should take an active part. There are many problems which come up for decision in civic matters that the judgement of an organized body of women workers is invaluable to the success of the movement. There are questions of civic importance that can only be settled by women themselves and the organization of the proposed club in Janesville should be encouraged and meet with the ready response of a large number of ladies throughout the city.

Roosevelt will not drop out of sight now that he is again near the scene of battle. First he asserts there will be no compromise between his Bull Moose party and the G. O. P. and next he warns the politicians of Greater New York that the fight must be against Tammany and Tammany alone. He may yet learn his opinion on the Balkan war or the Thaw case if he keeps on talking.

It would appear as though Governor McGovern is going to have opposition in his fight for the United States' senatorship this next year, if he desires it. Thus far no opposition worthy of support has appeared against him.

It is strange how quickly some men who are given authority learn to abuse their privileges and imagine themselves really greater than the persons who created them. Pride always goes before the fall.

Apparently President Wilson is becoming as much of an optimist as Secretary Bryan who, according to Colonel Henry Watterson, is an easy mark for any man with a gold brick to sell. He hopes congress will adjourn October 1 at the latest.

Professor Marvin, the new head of the weather bureau, is from Ohio. But that doesn't account for what he has been giving Kansas and Nebraska.

Among the eminently recommended reducers of the high cost of living the English sparrow must now make room for the mountain lion.

Very likely the high government officials suspected of botching on the races were unable either to live on their salaries or to lecture.

Switzerland has just discovered that the aeroplanes have frightened its stock away. Now we know what's the matter with France.

Four years in a state reformatory is little punishment for ruining the lives of two women but still the law is inconsistent in some cases.

"King George may visit the United States next year." But has anything been heard from Queen Mary on the subject?

San Francisco has fixed the thirty-five years as the age limit for its women police. That makes every woman eligible.

Perhaps it's more comforting than accurate to assume that Boston and St. Louis have not increased in population since 1910.

Naturally, if some lady is due to lose a $10,000 diamond brooch at every ball there's some reason for going to balls.

Colonel Muhall's attention should be called to the maxim urging those who live in stone houses not to throw glasses.

ALL PILOTS ARE READY FOR ELGIN ROAD RACES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Elgin, Ill., Aug. 28.—The Chicago Automobile Club and the Elgin Racing Association today put the finishing touches to the preparations for the annual renewal of the Elgin road races. The races will begin tomorrow and continue over Saturday. With the pick of American drivers entered and the leading American and European machines represented, the meet promises to be a great event. Tomorrow the 305-mile race for the Chicago automobile trophy, formerly the Elgin cup, will be run. The race will be for cars under 300 cubic inches piston displacement. The meet will conclude Saturday with the great race for the Elgin national trophy and a $2,500 purse. Ralph DePalma, Ralph Mulford, Theodore Pilette, Joe Dawson, Spencer Wishart and a number of other drivers of note will take part.

CHINESE STUDENTS MEET IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 28.—Chinese students in middle western universities are gathering for their annual conference which will be opened at the University of Illinois tomorrow and continued until September 5. About 150 students, including fifteen girls will attend. Chang-Ying-Tang, the Chinese ambassador to the United States, is expected to be the principal speaker.

Fire Chiefs to Organize.
Ontario, Ont., Aug. 28.—Fire chiefs from the leading cities of Ontario gathered here today for the annual convention of their provincial association. The convention will be in session three days. Before final adjournment it is expected that preliminary steps will be taken for the organization of a Dominion association of fire chiefs.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

WHY THE WORLD GROWS BETTER.

People go up a hill by marching and climbing.

The world is constituted of the people who are in it. We are among these people, and the world is what we collectively make it.

If the world is growing better, as we so often hear, it is because we are making it better.

Are we individually doing our part? Can we each of us say, "I left the world a little better for my being here?"

If not, we are a hindrance rather than a help to mankind. That is about the worst thing that can be said of a man.

It convicts him of getting something for nothing.

He receives the advantages of civilization, culture, free government, enlightenment, great inventions, religion, art, literature, humane institutions and general advancement.

The only way he can make repayment for these blessings is by adding something to them.

He cannot pay the past. That is gone. But he can pay the future. This is the course of life.

We repay our parents for their care of us by our care of our own children.

If we slack, we are getting something for nothing.

Here is a story of some people who are doing a very definite service to make the world better:

The Babies' Welfare association of New York city recently reported that the death rate of infants under one year old had fallen in the past year.

During the year 1912 there were 14,289 deaths of such infants as against 15,053 the previous year.

Yet the births in 1912 exceeded those of 1911 by 1,081.

The decrease in infantile mortality was due to the work of eighty societies banded together in a common campaign.

We may not be able to work in the same way, but every one of us can work in some way to make things better.

That is the way to pay our debt for the blessings we enjoy.

That is the way to balance the account and be square with the world.

NAME FARMER FOR VIRGINIA GOVERNOR

Henry C. Stuart.

Henry C. Stuart has been named for governor by the Democrats of Virginia. He is a wealthy farmer and until recently has been a corporation commissioner of the state. Stuart is well liked, and it is doubtful if the Progressives or Republicans will put up a candidate against him.

MARRIES MAN NAMED IN DIVORCE ACTION

Madeline du Pont.

Madeline du Pont, eldest daughter of Alfred I. du Pont, wealthy powder magnate of Delaware, who was divorced by her husband, John Bancroft, Jr., in a suit early last year which attracted widespread attention, is reported to have just married Max Heibler of Munich, Germany. Heibler was co-respondent in the divorce action.

Life's True Heroes.

Wordsworth characterizes the "little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love" as the "best portion of a good man's life." The real heroism of life is to do its little duties promptly and faithfully.

WANTS UNCLE SAM TO MAKE AMMUNITION

Clyde H. Tavenner.

That the government can save millions by manufacturing its own ammunition is the belief of Representative Clyde H. Tavenner of Illinois, who has just introduced in the lower house of congress a series of six bills providing for a government cartridge and field artillery ammunition plant at the Rock Island arsenal, Rock Island, Ill.

Company for George.

Bobbie, aged six, asked his mother: "You are not a liar, mamma, are you?" "No, son, I never told a lie." Bobbie hesitated, but he was so proud of his mother he said: "Mother, you won't be very lonesome when you go to heaven, 'cause you'll be with George Washington."

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF BOARD PROBABLE

CALL MAY BE ISSUED FOR SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNTY SUPERVISORS.

EMPLOYING PRISONERS

Matter of Providing Employment for Persons Committed to County Jail Important Matter for Consideration.

A request for a call of a special meeting of the county board of supervisors, signed by Chairman A. C. Gray and Supervisors J. A. Denning and John Morton, has been filed with County Clerk J. W. Lee and notice have been sent out to the supervisors asking their approval of the proposed move. As soon as a majority of the members have signified their willingness to be present at the special session the county clerk will send out notices for the meeting which will probably be held September 15.

Two matters of importance will be considered at the special session if it is called. The first is the matter of employing the prisoners who are committed to the county jail and the second is the matter of appropriating a sum of money from the general fund of the county for the repair of the highway in order to secure a certain amount of state aid money for the same purpose. The matter of employing the prisoners at the county jail has been a subject of considerable agitation on the part of county officials and members of the board for some time past. The new state law which requires the sheriff to secure employment of the men under his supervision has brought the question to the front in an imperative manner and Sheriff Whipple has been anxious to have the board take some action to assist him in the new burdens imposed upon him.

Sheriff Whipple has been most diligent in his efforts to place the men committed under the new law in satisfactory positions and has been very successful in placing many of them in the employ of the county. The fact has been noted by other sheriffs as well as police officers in general, that there is a certain class of men who are constantly sent to jail and who serve comparatively short terms who are unsatisfactory workmen even as common laborers and whom no employers will hire even at the lowest wages.

It is this class that Sheriff Whipple seeks to have the county make some provision for. He has suggested a rock pile at the jail where the work can be readily supervised and where the county officials can look after the prisoners. With such an establishment these men will be required to work under the exacting scrutiny of an officer and the provisions of the new state law will be carried out in detail. Under the present system Sheriff Whipple has little or no work for the men who stay confined in the jail and he fears that it will be impossible to find work for all outside of the county prison.

Just what action the supervisors may take on this matter is problematical although there has been a growing inclination manifest at the last few meetings to solve this problem in some way. A special committee was named some months ago to look into the feasibility of furnishing some kind of employment for these men. This committee, which was composed of Supervisors J. A. Denning, W. A. Rossow, and R. K. Overton, may have something important to suggest at the board meeting and Sheriff Whipple will undoubtedly be called upon to present his idea on the situation.

It is not probable that the board will have a session any longer than a day or two days at the most.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS

W. C. T. U. Social: Following its meeting to be held on September 3, at West Side Odd Fellows hall the W. C. T. U. will give a social, in the Court House parlors, at 2 o'clock, on Wednesday, Sept. 4. The annual election of officers will be held at the next meeting and a full attendance is desired. The last meeting of the organization was held yesterday afternoon.

Find Stolen Wheel: The police yesterday recovered the bicycle stolen some time ago from Mr. King, residing at 433 South Main street. It was found in the rear of the detention hospital. One tire, the seat, handlebars and a portion of the ball-bearings were missing. Evidently the thieves had incorporated them in another frame and sold it.

IS SECURING EVIDENCE AGAINST AUTO SPEEDERS

Roy Worthington, appointed as special policeman for carnival week, has used the police motorcycle to secure evidence against violators of the automobile regulations. Thus far he reports obtaining the numbers of fifteen automobiles whose drivers have either exceeded the speed limit or failed to light their lamps at night. The evidence will be laid before the municipal judge when appointed.

His Inference.

JANESVILLE STILL FREE FROM CONTAGIOUS DISEASE

Janesville is still free of contagious diseases according to Health Officer Dr. S. R. Fuchsmast. It is two weeks since he took down the last placard and no reports have been made to him since that time. This remarkable condition will probably come to the attention of the public after the schools as children mingle more freely than during vacations, facilitating the transmission of any contagious disease that may break out.

Dr. Fuchsmast says that he has not continued to come to the Health Officer, many of them ridiculous, and calling upon the Health Officer to undertake what he has no power to do. Will Make Returns of Teachers' Pension Fund

County Treasurer P. F. Livermore is preparing to send to the state treasurer Rock County's collection of funds for the teachers' retirement fund. The amount collected for 1913 amounts in all to $1,846.15, of which has been turned in with the exception of $12.95 which is due from two districts in Rock, one in Fulton and one in the town of Janesville. The amount turned into the state fund last year was $238.92, or a decrease for this year of over $900. Returns are due at Madison on or before the first day of September.

FORMER RESIDENT IS ON EXPEDITION THAT SAILED LAST WEEK

Prof. David H. Tennent of Bryn Mawr, Leaves San Francisco For Year's Stay in South Seas.

Prof. David H. Tennent of Bryn Mawr, a son of Mrs. Mary Tennent of 349 West Milwaukee street, sailed from San Francisco last week on his journey to the South Seas to be absent a year at Torres Straits where an experimental station will be established for the purpose of discovering the processes which underlie the mystery and origin of life. A San Francisco paper in writing of the expedition says:

A physiological expedition, composed of some of America's leading biologists and physiologists, sailed from San Francisco Wednesday, on the Australian liner, Aorangi, for a year's sojourn in Torres Straits, between Queensland and New Guinea.

The purpose of the expedition is to find out to what underlies the vital processes, to solve the mystery and origin of life.

They will try to modify the vital processes by physical and chemical means and to induce them to a matter of physics and chemistry, subject to regulation by modern science.

Torres Straits have been selected as the scene of their new investigations, because of the rich and varied life in the world. Here they will study star fish, sea urchins, jellyfish and all the marine population, hoping that the information they acquire may be gleaned something that will throw light on the subjects that have vexed philosophers and scientists since the beginning of time. A laboratory will be established on Thursday Island, in about 10 degrees south latitude, where each member of the expedition will pursue the subject specially interesting him, and where all the information will be collected for the information of their fellow students in different parts of the world.

Well Supplied With Funds.

The expedition is composed of Dr. Alfred G. Mayer, head of the marine department of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C., which now has about $31,000,000 with which to pursue his various enterprises. Dr. Mayer was assisted by Professor Alexander Agassiz at Harvard University from 1893 to 1900, and with him was made several investigations tours among the coral beds of the Pacific and West Indies.

Professor D. H. Tennent of Bryn Mawr, who has already found a way of causing certain marine animals to resemble their father or mother by changing chemically the sea water in which they live, will continue this line of work.

Dr. E. Newton Harvey is instructor of physiology at Princeton, and one of the foremost physiologists in the United States. Dr. Harvey will pursue investigations relating to the disputed subject of whether sensuous things affect us by touching the nerve cells or by penetrating the surface of the cells, and that there is much more muscular action independent of the brain than has been generally supposed. In previous experiments he has found that certain corals, termed holothurians, turn red in acid and purple in alkali. He will get specimens of the young and subject them to the chemical tests.

Professor H. L. Clark of Harvard was the author of many fishes and sea urchins, will continue his studies in these families of sea life.

John Mills, the engineer of the Carnegie experiment station at Tortugas, Fla., is also going along, and in New Zealand the party will be joined by Professor Frank A. Potts of Cambridge University, England, who will co-operate with them in their various investigations.

Starts With Discovery.

Not the least important subject of the expedition will be to continue the researches of a noted English scientist now deceased, upon the subject of the effect of chemical changes on both marine animal and vegetable life. In this respect the party will start with one important basic discovery.

It is that in tropical waters there is a certain bacillus that consumes the nitrogen and by denitrifying the sea water causes the calcium to combine with the carbon dioxide, producing chalk and limestone. This process, it is claimed will account for much of the geological nature of the sea coasts. It is found that the limestone beds of the south coast of England, instead of being of an original condition is but the calcium and carbon dioxide deposits, through the work of the marine bacilli, in the crustaceous age, when England was in the tropical zone.

Dr. Mayer, who is leader of the expedition, in a statement at the Manx Hotel Tuesday evening, summed up the objects of the trip thus:

"We are not going to gather specimens but to study conditions and make observations. We may not bring back a single specimen because we do not yet know a great deal. We have high hopes, however. We believe that chemistry and physics hold much of the secret of life that has heretofore been a mystery.

"We want to find out what underlies the vital processes, and try to modify these vital processes by physical and chemical means. We are making an experimental exploration trip. We are continuing investigations already started and so far advanced as to give us a practicable, tentative working concentration of subjects. Biologists now believe that we are descended from marine ancestors. Why may not the observations of the inhabitants of Torres Straits be applied to the more highly developed human species?"

One of the present generation of nervous diseases we have made a most valuable contribution to science."

Punished Perjury With Death.

The early Romans threw perjurers from the Tarpelion rock, a high cliff, falling from which was certain death, and at a later period any person who swore falsely was sentenced to have his tongue cut out, which also was equivalent to death.

Robinson-Sampica

Nuptials are held

Miss Maude E. Robinson and John A. Sampica are wedded at Bride's Home in Town of Janesville.

John A. Sampica of the West Milwaukee street tailoring shop and Miss Maude E. Robinson of Janesville township were married last evening at the bride's home four miles northwest of the city by the Rev. T. P. Williams of Rockford.

M. E. Church, the home was prettily decorated and at the music of the wedding march played by Miss June Robinson, sister of the bride, the wedding party marched to the front parlor where the ceremony was performed in the presence of seventy invited guests. The bride was escorted by her father, Judson L. Robinson. Benjamin Robinson, brother of the bride and J. L. Kennedy, acted as groomsmen, and the bridesmaids were Miss June Robinson and Miss Minnie Harnick, sister and friend of the bride.

The ring service was used and after the nuptials were extended to the happy couple, the guests sat down to an elaborate wedding banquet. Many beautiful presents were presented to the young couple. They will make their home in Janesville at 308 Milton avenue after returning from Chicago and other cities where they will spend their wedding vacation. A host of friends extend their congratulations.

Bar to Ants.

If one is housekeeping in the country and bothered by an attack of ants upon the bread box, take a common piece of chalk, such as children use for writing on a blackboard, and draw a ring around the bread box with it. The same kind of chalk ring will keep them out of closets where dresses are hanging or away from shelves.

DRINKING MAN SHOULD NOT BE BLAMED

Excessive Drinkers Acknowledge They "Would Be Better Without It."

Modern science has determined that instead of treating alcoholism as a disease it should be treated as a poison. It is emphatically NOT a disease. It is a poison and as such must be eradicated. The modern drinker is slowly filling his system with the poison and drinking to excess results in conditions where the nerves and organs refuse to do their work and a treatment which will remove the poison becomes necessary.

Here is where the excessive drinker is not to blame for his continued drinking. The system demands it; it would cause the GREATEST suffering to deprive the victim of his accustomed stimulant.

In coming to the Neal Institute liquor is not taken from the patient but with the Neal Treatment he loses his taste for alcohol in any form and the craving desire and appetite is removed entirely. Then is when the former drinking man realizes the satisfactory results of the Neal Treatment. THE NEAL INSTITUTE, 444 Cass St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Ponderous Personages
CLEOPATRA

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Cleopatra's full name was Cleopatra, mummy and merely asked for all her dances at the next assembly ball.

Matters were floating along in the 189th super stratum of bliss for Antony and Cleopatra when Augustus Caesar, who was running the world at that time, came over to check up Antony's accounts. When he missed some eight or nine countries and couldn't find any record of them he accused Antony of knocking down on him and ordered out the royal fleet. Antony and Cleopatra harassed up their combined warships and put up a fight, but while they had loaded around under the pyramids singing "Love Me and the World is Mine" in very close harmony the Egyptian navy went to thunder. They were defeated with great slaughter and when Augustus expressed a determination to use Antony's hide for a new snare drum head the latter gave up and fell upon his sword with great slaughter.

Cleopatra then spent three days redesignating her Marcelle wave and going over her complexion with gerat care, after which she advanced upon Augustus and gave him a half-million power smile. But Augustus, who was all ready married and was no hand at society anyway, grabbed up a fresh bunch of correspondence and asked Cleopatra to close the door when she went out. This discouraged Cleopatra to such an extent that she borrowed an asp which is a kind of low tension rattlesnake, from a personal friend and allowed it to bite her on her pink round forearm. Her funeral was largely attended.

Cleopatra was doubtless a very good girl for her times and if all the newspaper reports from the excessively raffish stratum of modern day life can be believed she wouldn't have shocked society a whole lot in some parts of the world today.

The Unharnessed Power

By R. D. SANCHE

Through publicity the world has been enlightened.

Strong, virile thinkers, long-headed business men, conceived the idea of using publicity to build up their business. And following their example thousands of men have been able to establish themselves so strongly in the public mind that they are as Gibraltar.

Their position is impregnable.

Publicity, or advertising, is a force which every business man, big or little, can use to bring golden dollars to him. . . .

Think of this power of advertising, and how you can apply it to your business.

The manufacturer, the banker, the baker, the butcher, as well as the clothing merchant or department store—in fact every business can be successfully advertised, if it is given the proper thought.

Phone our advertising department and make arrangements for a consultation. You will receive many helpful suggestions as to the proper methods to advertise your business.

Daily Gazette.

What did people do before scientists made it possible for us to use electricity?

It must have been a peculiar world without the telephone, telegraph, and the present system of lighting with which the present generation is so familiar. Thousands of articles in general use could not be manufactured and sold at the prices they are today, without the electric power to move the machinery.

Suppose someone had suggested that our mogul engines and ocean liners were possible?

Nature is pregnant with untold forces that future generations will discover, but like other discoveries years will be required to demonstrate their efficiency to the skeptical.

Gutenberg, Franklin and Morse little dreamed that through their discoveries and inventions, they were unconsciously creating a new force or power—publicity.

Similar to other natural forces, publicity has a power, the strength of which men have been unable to properly gauge.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

IF I WERE KING.

D ID you ever wish you were a king?
Once upon a time I wished I were a king and this was the way of it.

I was visiting at a very beautiful summer resort last July. In a colony of about thirty houses, at least half a dozen were closed. "Haven't these houses been rented this year?" I asked. The old resident looked horrified. "Rented? Oh no!" he said, "they are never rented. Their owners will come down in August and some of them are at their other country homes or traveling abroad and won't be here at all."

"And have they no friends to whom they could loan their houses?" I asked. "I don't know," said the old resident, shortly. He looked as if he would like to add, "And I don't care to know. It's none of my business or yours."

But I didn't mind his disapproval. You see, I was so busy wishing I were a king—not the kind of a king they have nowadays, but the fairy tale kind who could make all the laws he wanted and have them obeyed.

And then, the old resident having left me in disgust, I sat down under a pine-tree, looked up at the blue sky and pretended I was that kind of a king. And that was the laws I made:

A fine of from one thousand dollars up shall be imposed on any subject who deliberately leaves a beautiful house closed and useless. If he is too rich to need the rent, he shall loan his house to someone who is too poor to pay the rent. (Judges will not listen to wealthy people who make all their friends among other wealthy people and never share their opportunities with those who lack them shall be punishable by a fine.)

Rich relations who never do anything for their poor relations shall be punished by being obliged to change places with said poor relations for a period of time not less than one year and not more than fifty-two weeks.

Something interrupted me at this point and I never was able to get back to my kingdom, but don't you think that even those few laws would help a lot?

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old and have known a young man two years my senior for the past four years. This young man used to go with me "steady," but the past year I have seen him only about one month, as he lives in a town about four miles from here.

Now this young man earns $20 a week and is in partnership with his father and has a great future before him. He is very good looking and is considered a "sport" by all who know him. When he was going with me steady he didn't drink at all, and he told me that of all the girls he ever met I was the only girl he ever loved, or even would love. I love him dearly, Mrs. Thompson, and I am sure he loves me as much as he claims he does, for he has told some of my friends that he was sorry he ever learned to drink and lose for his wife such a good girl as I was. (That is the reason I had to stop keeping his company, as he started in to drink heavily.)

I received a letter from him the other day saying that if I would only allow him to call he would never drink again and that his love for me is just the same.

Do you think I should answer his letter saying that he could call but would have to promise never to drink again, or am I better off without that kind of man?

My parents don't object, but say that I can never marry a man that drinks.

A CONSTANT READER.
Tell him if he loves you enough to stop drinking for a year, you will believe in him, then he must prove himself before you can think of marrying him. I doubt very much if he will do it, unless he is a young man with an unusually strong will.

To take medicine out of white materials dip the spot into cold water while it is fresh.

Orange and lemon peel make a fine flavoring for syrups, jellies and preserves.

Flourishes may be cleaned in washing soda water, dried well, and then rubbed smooth on common salt.

Indian meal is better than oatmeal or almond meal when the skin is chafed and dry.

The Table.
Brown Bread—One cup each of cornmeal, rye meal and graham flour, two cups of sour milk, three-quarters tablespoon of soda, one teaspoon of salt, three-quarters cup of molasses. Mix meal, flour, soda and salt. Add molasses and milk, put in a buttered mould, (one-pound coffee cans will serve), and steam three and one-half hours. Fill moulds only two-thirds full and cover tightly. One and three-quarters cups of sweet milk may be substituted for sour milk.

Suet Pudding.—One cup of molasses, one cup of milk, one cup of suet chopped fine, three and one-half cups of flour, one cup of chopped raisins, one heaping teaspoon of soda mixed with the molasses, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one-half teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Mix and add ingredients. Add molasses and milk to suet. Combine mixtures and add raisins. Turn into a buttered mold, cover and steam four hours. Serve with hard sauce or egg sauce.

Cup Custard.—Four cups of hot milk, four eggs, one-half cup of sugar, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, nutmeg. Beat eggs slightly; add sugar and salt, then pour on slowly hot milk. Strain mixture into cups; place cups in a pan of hot water and sprinkle a few gratings of nutmeg over each one. Bake until custard is firm and a knife can be inserted and removed without the custard sticking to it. Do not let water in pan boil or custard will whey.

Corn Relish.—Two dozen ears of corn, three-fourths cupful of salt, three-quarters of vinegar, six onions, one red pepper, two green peppers, one bunch of celery, two and a half cupfuls of sugar, three-fourths cupful of flour, half a teaspoonful of turmeric, quarter of a teaspoonful of red pepper, half a teaspoonful of mustard, half a teaspoonful of powdered ginger, and one cabbage. Cut the corn from the cobs. Put the cabbage through a meat chopper with the onions, pepper and celery stalks. Put the vegetables in a three-quart kettle and pour over half of the vinegar. Mix the sugar with the flour and spices and add the remaining vinegar. Combine mixtures, bring to boiling point, then allow to simmer gently for forty-five minutes. Pour into glass jars and seal.

Crab Salad.—Marinate two and a half cupfuls of crab meat with French dressing, drain, add half a cupful of mayonnaise sauce. Arrange in crab shells, then chill. Garnish with pimientos and mayonnaise.

Butterscotch Pie.—One cupful of soft "A" sugar, two eggs, two tablespoonsfuls of flour, one cupful of cold water, two heaping tablespoonsful of butter, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, one baked piecrust. Mix the sugar, flour and yolks of eggs to a smooth paste; add gradually the water and the butter, and stir over the fire until thick; then add the vanilla extract. Pour into the piecrust. Beat up the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, add two tablespoonsfuls of sugar, put this on the top of the pie and brown slightly in the oven. If a few bananas are sliced into the pie and covered with the filling and the whites of the eggs an excellent dish will be the result.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

ONLY the possessions which we use are of present value to us. A man may have a money fortune, and yet be poverty stricken in the very things which that money would buy him. The money is his all the time; but it is of little or no value to him because he lets it alone.

GOOD EATING.

Add a sprig of finely chopped parsley to the creamed potatoes, it will improve the flavor and quite change the dish. Grated cheese may be added for another variety.

Creamed Potatoes with Green Peppers.—Peel enough potatoes to make a quart after they have been cut in dice for cooking. Remove the seeds and cut two sweet green peppers into rings. Put the peppers and diced potatoes into boiling water and cook until the potatoes are tender. Make a rich white sauce of two tablespoonsfuls of flour and when well mixed a cup of milk. Season with salt and pour over the potatoes and peppers.

Blueberry Muffins.—Mix two table-spoonfuls of butter with a table-spoonful of sugar until creamy, then add two eggs beaten light. Sift two table-spoonfuls of baking powder with two and a half cupfuls of flour and add a cup of sweet milk, alternating the milk and flour, stir in lightly just before putting into the muffin pans a cup of blueberries lightly dusted with flour.

Corn Patties.—Take a pint of fresh green corn grated, add three well beaten eggs, a half teaspoonful of sugar and salt to taste, mix with a cup of fine cracker crumbs, make in the form of patties and fry in hot lard. Arrange corn husks on a platter, fringing the ends and heap the patties on the husks and serve at once.

Cucumber Jelly Salad.—Peel two cucumbers and cut them in slices. Put them in a pint of cold water, with a thin slice of onion, season with pepper and salt and simmer until the cucumbers are tender. Dissolve a table-spoonful of gelatin in warm water and add it to the cucumbers, strain and pour it into a mold. When cold serve on lettuce with French dressing.

A little orange juice added to rhubarb sauce improves the flavor.

Building in Constant Motion.

There are many in New York who regard the Flatiron building not only from the standpoint of a curiosity, but from that of beauty, as the eighth wonder of the world. In the top stories of this building the pendulum of office clocks sways so far over that it cannot come back of itself, only when aided by the return movement of the great structure. Ink is spilled from the wells with this ceaseless movement, for, like the prow of a ship, the "Flatiron" sways and gives with the elements.

MOTOR COAT OF MANDARIN RATINE

This motor coat is made of deep Mandarin yellow ratine. The coat is in two parts and the skirt part is slightly plaited on each side of the back and is joined to the body under a tuck. The coat is double-breasted and is fastened on the left side of the front with brown tortoise shell buttons and bound button holes. The front of the sleeve is one with the body, while the back of the sleeve is joined to the body under a seam. The collar and cuffs are of the material.

RICE AND RAISINS AIDS TO HEALTH.

Rice should be considered as a food for its energy value and as a substitute for other foods. In search of a food for impaired digestion, as for the well we have made the mistake in eating the polished rice. It has apparently been the fashion, if such can be said of foods, to have the dull outer covering of the kernel removed. This is rich in nitrogen and mineral salts and high flavor.

That dreadful disease, beri-beri, which has been prevalent among rice eating people recently, was no less than mineral starvation with the life sustaining elements polished from the grain. From this year's crop, we have been assured by dealers we shall be able to secure the brown head rice which has nothing taken from it. It is clean, easy to prepare, easy of digestion, leaving a healthy, longing appetite which we had as children, but which most of us have lost somewhere in our busy life.

Many persons rarely experience in adult life the sensation of hunger; others are afflicted with a constant tired feeling. It should occur to such that their food is not properly digested or assimilated. Rice digests readily and leaves the stomach free to rest before taking food at the next meal.

Raisins Natural Sweet.

Raisins are a natural sweet which perfect energizer and there are very few who eat the delicious raisins who know what they are, how dried, or where they come from. They are very often better dried in the sun, but the great difficulty in drying in the open air, aside from the uncertainty of the weather, is, of course, two crusts.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

By FRANCIS JOYCE KENNEDY

Stopping at the hotel that the cottage we are occupying for the summer lies beside, is a dear little Christian thoroughbred of a woman from one of our southern cities. She is here with her three grown daughters and as the hotel is rather cozy for one of her years she has formed the habit of dropping in for a quiet evening's talk. It isn't always talk. She is one of those rare characters that can understand silence; that can sit quietly while the silent calm of the early night seems to creep down from the hillsides and envelop one in their great cloak of silence.

She has lived, and from a life filled with the experiences of an unusual destiny, she has learned many things pertaining to the woman's side of the successful running of a Christian home. We all have a hobby, mine is that every married man should, as soon as possible become the owner of a home. I spoke to her on this subject one evening. "Yes," she said, "I am of your opinion." "However," I said, "to act is oftentimes difficult." "Let me tell you of my own case." "We have been married twenty-five years and had seven children."

the exposure to dust and insects. Everyone knows that dust may be the bearer of all sorts of micro-organisms, causing disease, and of other tiny organisms which cause decay in the fruit, insects, attracted by the sweet fruit, introduce future worms by laying their eggs in it.

It is possible to guard against these dangers by choosing clean and protected drying places, by preventing careless and unnecessary exposure, by washing or sterilizing and by careful packing and marketing. The large establishments of the United States are setting high standards of cleanliness and are demonstrating that it is profitable to produce really sanitary goods.

Unfortunately such conditions do not prevail in some of the countries around the eastern end of the Mediterranean, from which comes such a large part of the world's dried figs and dates.

Rice and Raisin Souffle.

Material.—Rice, one cup; butter, one table-spoonful; sugar, one-half cup; milk, one pint; raisins, one cup; rind of a lemon; vanilla; eggs, three. Directions.—Mix in a saucepan the rice, butter, sugar, milk, raisins, rind of lemon and vanilla. Cook slowly for ten minutes, lifting meanwhile the rice with a fork to keep off the bottom. Put on back of range and add while stirring the eggs, the yolks and whites beaten separately. Pour into buttered mold, stand in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven one-half hour. Serve with powdered sugar sprinkled over.

Rice-Raisin Pie.
Boil one cup of raisins and one cup of water three minutes, then add three table-spoonfuls of boiled rice and one cup of sugar. Boil another five minutes, stir in a table-spoonful of butter and bake in two crusts, or soak the raisins in a cup of cold water for an hour, pour off the water, add to one and one-half cupfuls of sour milk, then add one cup of sugar, one beaten egg, one table-spoonful each of cinnamon and cloves and bake in two crusts.

Inez Haynes Gillmore.

Inez Haynes Gillmore, the well-known fiction writer and suffragist, declares that giving women the ballot will enlarge rather than destroy the home. "The time has come for women not to destroy the home," she recently declared in a suffrage argument, "but to enlarge it until it covers the whole world; not to neglect the family, but to increase it until it embraces the entire human race. Many women see that—certainly all the progressive and radical women—and a few men. We have yet to convince the conservative woman, the reactionary woman, and most men."

aid. They were skeptical but any thing they might do they would and gladly.

"Where I had served meat twice daily, she served it but once, substituting such dishes as baked beans, macaroni and cheese, potatoes and cheese, etc. She served rice puddings, pea soups, meat soups with the meat saved to be served as hash or minced, creamed, covered with crumbs and baked in the oven. Where I had baked pies, pies, pies, she baked no pies at all and very few cakes. She had promised sufficient substantial food, no extras, they got it. She closed up the front room thereby reducing the coal bill. She surprised her father by proudly displaying a bank book with $40 to his credit. That was the beginning. The habit took. They all started a savings account. My illness was almost providential. My daughter's methods were working finely and I was thankful to keep to them on my return home. I had always set a beautiful table, my husband had so desired. Still they gladly welcomed the change my daughter inaugurated. I think," she ended soberly "the main faculty in saving—in owning a home—is in getting started." I am of the same opinion. Are you?

Monogamy Proved Best.
Through the animal world, careful investigation shows that the nearer the animals have approached the ideal form of marriage the higher they have reached in the scale of development and the better and more enduring is their offspring.

HELD A PROCESSION TO BOOST CARNIVAL

Moose Band and Members. of Local Lodge and Carnival Band Draw Big Crowds to Attractions.

Miller Brothers' Carnival held at the corner of Westers Avenue and South River streets, since last Monday under the auspices of the Janesville lodge of Moose has enjoyed record crowds ever since its arrival, but the attendance last evening passed all former marks in consequence of a special advertising feature, the parade of members of the Moose order headed by their band and the carnival band. The procession formed in front of the Myers hotel and was preceded by an open air concert in which both bands participated.

Tuesday night was "Newsboys' night" and eighty "Janesville Gazette" newsies as guests of the Moose and Miller Brothers were admitted free of charge to all the attractions on the grounds.

The carnival is perhaps the largest and best equipped that has ever visited Janesville, and brings with it attractions that are new to the city.

Professor and Mrs. J. A. Bergh, who were together with the St. Olaf concert chorus to Europe, arrived at Mrs. Bergh's home, A. C. Ingelbren's Tuesday evening. Professor Bergh was the director of the chorus and is surely to be congratulated on his ability of directing a chorus from what he has done here. With trained voices such as he had to deal with on such a trip, we are sure he was very successful.

Mrs. Colonel Larsen was a Janesville passenger Tuesday p. m.

Mrs. E. J. Shafer was a Janesville shopper last Wednesday.

Messrs. Torris Evenson and Ernest Clemenson left Wednesday morning for a month's vacation, camping in the northern part of the state.

Mrs. Simon Simonson and children, who have been visiting at her home returned to Hartford Wednesday noon.

Misses Bernice and Mary Overstrud were Janesville shoppers Wednesday p. m.

Mrs. Compton, who has been visiting her son at Baraboo has recently returned.

Claude Greenwalt carried the mail for M. E. Hamblett last Tuesday.

MILTON JUNCTION

Milton Junction, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Roberts and children have returned from Enderlin, North Dakota.

An ordinary cup of coffee contains about 2 1/2 grains of caffeine—a poisonous drug.

Five grains of caffeine is enough to kill a rabbit. Of course that much wouldn't kill a man.

But continual coffee drinking usually produces biliousness, headache, dullness, sleeplessness, irritability and heart agitation. Many people have gotten rid of these troubles by quitting coffee and using

INSTANT POSTUM

It is pure and made entirely of Northern wheat and the juice of Southern sugar-cane. Postum is a genuine food drink—rich in Nature's phosphates, and contains no drug whatever.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum (must be boiled.)

Instant Postum requires no boiling, but is made instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water with cream and sugar to taste.

Experiment until you get it to suit your taste, then have it always made that way. Made right, Postum has a delightful flavor, resembling high-grade Java.

If coffee don't agree, suppose you leave it off ten days and try Postum.

Drink it instead of coffee.

Mrs. A. Collins entertained at a miscellaneous shower for her sister, Miss Helen Lay on Thursday afternoon.

FIVE YEAR OLD BOY TURNS IN AN ALARM

Little Lloyd Sperry Sees Flames Belching From New Doty Works Smelter For First Time.

Seeing flames belching from the smelter flue at the New Doty works on North Main street for the first time at about 8:30 o'clock this morning little Lloyd Sperry, five years old, thought a dangerous fire was in progress and pulled the fire alarm at box 21, corner of North Main street and Wisconsin avenue. This box is within the fire limits are apparently from all three stations hastened to the scene, the big motor truck from the East Side station reaching the scene first. Little Sperry was frightened at the approach of the apparatus and ran towards home, soon realizing that he had made a mistake.

The glass over the key had evidently been broken out some time ago and that was necessary to turn the key. Chief Klein promptly replaced the missing pane of glass.

CLINTON

Clinton, Aug. 27.—Dr. Ruben Larson of Chicago, formerly of Clinton, is visiting friends here for a few days. He reports a peculiar accident which befell his brother, Marling, this summer. When some other young men went to the mountains camping and one day joined in a race down the mountain side. Earling struck a stone and turning a double somersault in the air, landed against a tree which was all that saved him from going over a steep precipice. He sustained a badly fractured shoulder, which soon after setting had to be operated on and pieces of splinters were removed. He is the second son of Rev. G. A. Larson, former pastor of the Bergen Lutheran church, who moved west.

Mrs. J. A. Hall and child of Chicago are visiting her sister, Mrs. E. S. Duxstad and family.

Mrs. George Berleson and Mrs. C. S. Jensen return from Denmark Monday evening and both report a very successful time and brought many greetings to Clinton from the far-away relatives and friends in the fatherland.

Gerhardt Rochrs, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Hinsdale, Illinois, formerly of Clinton, who Mr. Rochrs was pastor of the German Lutheran church, has been visiting friends for several days. He reports his parents, brothers and sister well and growing, which will be good news to their old friends and neighbors here.

Mr. and Mrs. August Schrandt's baby died early yesterday morning of intestinal trouble. The entire community sympathizes with the bereaved parents.

Miss Barrett of Beloit is visiting Miss Alice Gates.

James Winegar is a Delhart, Texas, visitor on business, connected with his big ranch of 800 acres near Delhart.

Miss Fuller of Delavan was calling on friends here between train hours.

H. A. Moehlmann went to Turtle Lake Monday evening to enjoy several days' fishing.

Mrs. A. Woodard, Jr., of Allen Grove, was here yesterday.

Frank Johnson, who has been visiting relatives in Montana and Oregon since he was here in June, is again in Clinton for a few days, visiting his friends.

Miss Wilfred Dink of Lake Geneva is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Boden.

The colored singers from one of the colored schools in Alabama gave a very enjoyable concert last night at the Methodist church to a good sized audience.

One of the most interesting and exciting stunts labor day at Clinton's stipendous celebration will be the fire alarm turned into the Beloit fire station from here and the answering by the big motor truck with a full complement of firemen and the record breaking run to Clinton and the coupling and laying of a lead of 20 minutes.

The gallant Beloit fire fighters claim they can make the run in 20 minutes and be alive to tell the tale to their grandchildren. The permission of the Beloit city council for the truck to come to Clinton is labor day committee. The coming of the fire truck, the Moose band and the Beloit Moose ball team ought to mean a big delegation of Beloit people here on that day, which will be the largest and biggest day Clinton has ever had.

Words Have Become Corrupted.

Such names as Swearing and Gambling show how the original meaning has become corrupted. Swearing is from swor, which comes from the Anglo-Saxon word meaning "honorable." Gambling comes from gaming, which comes from a Norse word signifying "old descent."

THE EMPLOYERS MUTUAL LIABILITY INSURANCE CO.

WAUSAU, WISCONSIN.

was organized by EMPLOYERS of Wisconsin to provide the insurance required under the Wisconsin Workmen's Compensation Act and to enable them to Insure For Employees Instead Of Against Them

The Company is the oldest company confining itself entirely to Compensation Insurance; has a larger Wisconsin premium income, has issued more policies, covers more lives, and has provided compensation for a greater number of industrial accidents in this State than any other company, and has saved its policyholders more than $325,000.00 in premiums during the past two years.

The Policy of the Company covers the Employer completely and provides for complete release from liability incurred.

Its premiums are fixed after inspection according to an Individual Merit Rating System, thus giving to the careful Employer the lowest rate with a constant incentive for accident prevention.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped
By Common Sense
Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

"Communicate!" echoed Simmons. "Why, he's easier to talk to than a girl who wants an ice-cream soda!"

"Then send this: 'Your messages have been communicated to the people. Be patient.'"

"What do you get?" asked Eldridge, after a moment.

"Oh, a lot of the same sort of dope," answered Simmons wearily. "Do you want it?"

"No, it is not necessary," replied Eldridge. "But listen for another message from about the same distance when he has finished."

Silence fell on the room. At the end of ten minutes Simmons raised his head.

"I get 'O K Q' over and over," said he. "Want that?"

"That," replied Eldridge with satisfaction, "indicates that my crew on the special train in the Adirondacks two hundred miles away has heard your message to Monsieur X. He glanced at his watch. 'Now, if you would be so good as to afford me a moment's assistance,' he requested

Simmons, "I wish to disconnect from your battery one of your powerful Leyden jars, and to substitute for it one of weaker voltage. I ventured to instruct my delivery man to leave a few in the outer hall."

"That will weaken the sending power of my instrument," objected Simmons.

"Exactly what I wish to do," replied Eldridge.

"He's clever all right," Darrow murmured admiringly to Jack. "See what he's up to?"

"Not yet," muttered Jack.

The substitution completed, Eldridge again glanced at his watch.

"Now," he instructed Simmons, "send the letters 'Q E D,' and continue to do so until you again hear the letters 'O K Q.'"

Simmons set himself to the task. It was a long one. At last he reported his answer.

"He sends 'O K Q' ten," he said. Eldridge turned to the reporters.

"That means that the substitution of the smaller Leyden jar for one of the larger reduced the sending power of this instrument just ten miles," said he. "My crew has quite simply moved slowly forward until it caught our sending here."

"Next," he instructed Simmons, "see if you can communicate with Monsieur X."

"The operator speedily reported his success at that. Eldridge removed his glasses and polished their lenses.

"Thus, gentlemen," said he, "from our circle of two-hundred-mile radius we have eliminated a strip ten miles wide. Naturally if this weakened sending reaches only one hundred and ninety miles, and our antagonist receives our message, he must be nearer than one hundred and ninety miles. We will now further reduce the strength of our sending and try again."

The younger men present broke into a shout.

The reporters on the morning papers mastered only with difficulty their inclination to stay. They had to leave before their papers went to press, but were back again in an hour, unwilling to lose a moment of the game. A tension vibrated the little office. Only Percy Darrow dozed alone in the corner, leaning back in his wooden armchair.

At near four o'clock in the morning Simmons raised his head after a long bout of calling to announce that he could get no reply from Monsieur X. "He's got tired of your fool messages," remarked the Register man. "And I don't wonder! Guess he's gone to bed."

Eldridge said nothing, but replaced the Leyden jar he had but just removed.

"Try one," said he. "I get him," reported Simmons, after a moment.

"Send him anything plausible and reassuring," commanded Eldridge hastily. He turned to his small and attentive audience in triumph. "Thus, gentlemen," he announced, "we have proven conclusively that our man is located between forty and fifty miles from New York. If we draw two circles, with this building as center, the circumference of one of which is fifty, the other forty miles away, we define the territory within which the malefactor in question is to be found."

Crowded Close About the Table to Examine the Map.

The people in the room crowded close about the table to examine the map upon which Professor Eldridge had drawn the circles.

"There's an awful lot of country—some of it pretty wild," objected the Bulletin man. "It will be a long job to hunt a man down in that territory."

"Even if it were as extensive as a hasty review of the facts might indicate," stated Eldridge, "I venture to assert that enough men would be forthcoming to expedite such a search. But modifying circumstances will lighten the task."

"How's that?" asked the Banner man, speaking for the others' evident interest.

"We have no means of surmising the method by which this man succeeds in arresting vibratory motions of certain wave-lengths," said Eldridge didactically. "Any more than we are able to define the precise nature of electricity. But, as in the case of electricity, we can observe the action of its phenomena. Two salient features leap out at us: one is that these phenomena are limited in time; the other that they are limited in space. The latter aspect we will examine, if you please, gentlemen."

"The phenomena have been directed with great accuracy (a) at the Atlas Building; (b) at this city and some of its immediate suburbs. The peculiarity of this can not but strike an observant mind. How is this man able, at forty or fifty miles distance, to concentrate his efforts on one comparatively small objective? We can only surmise some system of insulating screens or focal mirrors. I might remark in passing that the existence of this power to direct or focus the more rapid ethereal vibrations would be a discovery of considerable scientific moment. But if this is the method employed, why do we not cut a band of vibratory nullifications, rather than touch upon a focal point?"

"Repeat softly," murmured the irrepresible Register man.

"Why," explained Eldridge patiently, "are not the people and buildings between here and the unknown operator affected? The only hypothesis we are justified in working upon is that the man's apparatus is at a height sufficient to carry over intervening obstacles. This hypothesis is strengthened by the collateral fact that the territory we have just determined as that within which he must be found lies in the highlands of our own and neighboring states. We may, therefore, eliminate the low-lying districts within our radius."

Percy Darrow opened one eye. "Perhaps he's up in a balloon," he drawled languidly; "better take along an aeroplane."

Eldridge cast him a look of cold scorn; Darrow closed one eye.

CHAPTER XVII.

Drawing the Net.

The "zone of danger," as the Bulletin named it, was immediately the scene of swarming activities. Besides the expedition immediately despatched by the interests backing the investigation, several enterprising newspapers saw a fine chance for a big scoop, and sent out much-heralded parties of their own. The activities of these were well reported, you may be sure. Public interest was at once focused reassuringly on the chances of finding the annoying malefactor today or tomorrow; there no longer existed a doubt that he would be found. The weight of dread was lifted, and in the reaction people made light of the inconveniences and fun of the menacing messages that now came in by the dozen.

It was necessary to take extraordinary precautions against thieves and fire; the people took them. It was needful to slacken business in order that the congestion of the rush hour might not again prove tragic; business was slackened. People were willing to undergo many things, because, after all, they were but temporary. The madman of the Catskills would sooner or later be found; his perilous activities brought to a conclusion. The country to be searched was tremendous, of course, but the search was thorough.

The public delivered itself joyously to a deluge of rumors and of "extras." The insistent alarms of danger, trickling in slowly from the outside world, dried up in the warmth of optimism. Only the more thoughtful, to a few of whom these warnings came, coupled them with Monsieur X's repeated threats, and walked uncertain and in humility.

Percy Darrow did not interest himself in the search, nor did he desert his post in the wireless office. There he did nothing whatever. Jack Warford stayed with him, but immensely bored, it must be confessed. Once he suggested that if Darrow had nothing for him to do that afternoon, he thought he would like to go out for a little exercise.

Darrow shook his head. "You may go, if you want to, Jack," said he, "but if you do I'll have to get some one else. This isn't much of a job, but I may need you any moment."

"All right," agreed Jack cheerfully. "Only I wish you'd let a fellow know what to expect."

Darrow shook his head. The two now practically lived in the office. Neither had taken his clothes off for several days. They slept in their chairs or on the lounge. Darrow read the various messages from the Unknown, glanced over the newspapers, and dozed.

Thus there passed two days of the search. On the third day the intermittent phenomena and the messages suddenly ceased. This fact was hailed jubilantly by all the papers as indicating that at last the quarry had become alarmed by the near-coming search. From the contracted district still remaining to be combed over, nobody was permitted to depart; and so closely was the cordon drawn by so large a posse that it was physically impossible for any living being to slip by the line.

Thus even if Monsieur X, convinced that at last his discovery was imminent, should destroy his apparatus or attempt to move it and himself to a place of safety, he would find his escape cut off. Thousands of men were employed, and thousands more drafted in as volunteers to render this outcome assured.

It was an army deployed in an irregular circle, and moving inward toward its center. Men of the highest executive ability commanded it, saw to its necessary deliberation, eliminated all possibility of a confusion through which any man could slip. The occasion was serious, and it was taken seriously.

Of the outcome no one in touch with the situation had a moment's doubt. The messages and the phenomena had continued to come from the danger zone. It was of course evident that they could not have been sent from any portion of the zone actually searched and occupied by the searchers. The remaining portion of the zone, from which they were still coming, had been completely surrounded. After that the manifestation had ceased. Therefore, Monsieur X must be within the beleaguered circle. To add to the probabilities, as Eldridge pointed out, the remaining district compressed the highest hills in the zone—a fact on all fours with his hypothesis.

On the appointed morning the army moved toward the center. Men beat the ground carefully, so close to one another that they could touch hands. As they closed in the ranks became thicker. Animals of many kinds, confused as the ranks closed in on them, tried to break through the cordon and were killed. Captains held order in the front row, that the army might not become a crowd. Birds, alarmed by the shouting, rose and wheeled.

Men Beat the Ground Carefully.

Dinner Stories

The teacher of the class in English had asked his pupils to write for their daily exercise a brief account of a baseball game.

One boy sat through the period seemingly wrapped in thought, while others worked hard and turned in their narratives. After school the teacher approached the desk of the laggard.

"I'll give you five minutes to write that description," he sternly said. "If it is not done by that time I shall punish you."

The boy promptly concentrated all his attention upon the theme as the teacher slowly counted the moments.

At last, with joyful eagerness, he scratched a line on his tablet and handed it to his master. It read:

"Rah—no game."

A quick doctor was holding forth about his "medicines" to a rural audience.

"Yes, gentlemen," he said, "I have sold these pills for over twenty-five years and never heard a word of complaint. Now, what does that prove?"

A voice: "That dead men tell no tales."

Although I'm full of nicotine—I've smoked tobacco till I'm green—the bugs all seem to like me; they camp upon my shapely frame and diligently play their game wherever they may strike me.

APPETIZING MAN The flies will travel round a block to ride upon me when I walk and gambol on my person; and on that person they abide and try to kill my shrinking hide, regardless of my cursing. And when the shades of evening come the blamed mosquitoes round me hum, and roost upon my galvans; I try to drive the brutes away, but lovingly they seem to say, 'We'll stay right with you, always. I wonder why I taste so fine that all the insects want to dine upon me, sorrow laden? If I were skinner, fly or bug, I'd see that all my wells were dug upon some tender maiden. I seek the sylvan neighborhoods, the shady, silent, soothing woods, to lodge the solar rigors; but there's no peace or comfort there; I'm plunged in trouble and despair—I'm eaten up by chigger. The wasp around me flies in rings, the hornet saves his hottest stings to jar me confound me; I wish my frame were made of wood! I wish I didn't taste so good, when all the bugs are round me!'

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns, fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are a number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper, and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

RAYMOND DOLE

Ray Dole is not content to play

Around the house—he runs away.

He runs away and no one knows

When, why, how far, or where he goes.

His mother tells him that he shouldn't.

And he's a Goop, or else he wouldn't!

Don't Be A Goop!

No Charge for This.

Young persons should reflect that everything which is blind and which laughs at locksmiths is not love—Puck.

NAMED BY WILSON TO RULE FILIPINOS

Who is laughing at him?

World Against Him.

He missed the bench just half an inch, And sat upon the ground; He felt the world against him then, And sadly looked around.

Servant Girl Educator.

The truth is, we never think of education in connection with babyhood, the term being in our minds inextricably confused with schoolhouses and books. When we do honestly admit the plain fact that a child is being educated in every waking hour by the condition in which he is placed and the persons who are with him, we shall be readier to see the need of a higher class of educators than servant girls.—Concerning Children.
